FYI

Michelle, is there any support that the RCMP can provide OPS as it relates to trucks parked on our overpasses along SJAM?

Cheers
Ian

Subject: Protest - global update

Importance: High

Good morning everyone,

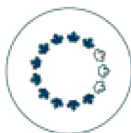

I took a walk-through of the core earlier this morning. Here are some pertinent updates after that visit, my meeting with PSPC and some conversations with RCMP, the City & OPS:

- * Traffic management
 - * It appears that OPS is taking a slightly different approach to traffic management in the core with most roads north of Slater/ Albert not accessible to protesters who are not already parked there
 - * The convoy has expanded down the SJAM from Vimy to the Pontiac/Tunneys Pasture overpass. Many trucks are parked on the overpasses and the eastbound lanes are completely blocked. OPS is trying their best to manage the truckers but there are “unreasonable” elements at play.
 - * Please see the video of the back-up from our contractor as of this 8:45am morning: Freedom Convoy - SJAMP - 01/30/2022 08:45
 - * NOTE: Rémic Rapids facilities remain open, cleaned and busy with the ski trails seeing a lot of traffic. OPS has facilitated Gemma’s access to the facility over the weekend
 - * I will be exploring the possibility of removing truck access to QED effective end-of-day today – more to follow

- * I am awaiting a call back from the Sergeant responsible for SJAM & SGEC/ Sussex traffic operations to discuss their plan for the day. As noted above, they are dealing with some elements who are not complying with their requests, which is making it quite challenging for them at this time.
- * Wellington:
 - * Jammed from Parliament Hill west to Lyon but OPS has a barricade at Lyon which is keeping additional cars from accessing Wellington.
 - * Cars were already starting to back-up at 10am west of Lyon
 - * "Prayer" event planned for this morning at Supreme Court (may be underway now)
 - * Cars were parked overnight and into this morning on the turf area of Garden of the Provinces off of Wellington, including at least one semi-truck (no trailer)
 - * Significant amount of garbage along Wellington, although protesters are collecting some of the trash. There will be a significant amount of clean-up to do once the protest has subsided.
 - * OPS has indicated that they will be moving to protect the National War Memorial going forward. I can confirm that their presence at that spot was heightened today as it compares to yesterday.
- * Confed Park:
 - * The City installed barricades at the tree pedestrian entrances (Elgin & Laurier) yesterday for us to tighten the access width
 - * PSPC installed two jersey barriers along Freiman Lane to try and mitigate vehicular access into the park
 - * Garbage cans are over-flowing – Jason, can you please speak to the organizers and see if they will be able to arrange a clean-up crew for these cans as our contractor has been unable to access the area thus far over the weekend.
- * Bridges:
 - * Alexandra is closed for the day
 - * Portage is closed for now with a protest march from Gatineau coming soon; will re-open NB after the march
 - * Chaudière is closed SB
 - * Champlain and MacDonald Cartier remain open (with lane reductions on MacD)
 - * NOTE: RCMP is no longer manning the bridges and will return to managing the parkways (mostly in ON) for the day as they are short-staffed

Lastly, I think it's important to note that there is no clear intel indicating when these protests will be winding down. PSPC is planning for the inevitability that the protest will continue into tomorrow, and we should do the same. As information becomes available I'll be sure to continue to share with those on this email.

Cheers
Ian

Good morning everyone. I am at confed and all is fairly quiet so far. The jersey barriers are in place and one of the main protesters is already complaining he can't drive in to deliver wood for the fires. He requested they be removed but I let him know that was not feasible for today. I will be on site for the day if anyone requires further information. I will update periodically as things progress. I can also be reached at 613-720-6589. Let's have a good day. Jason

Subject: Updated plans for Confed Park

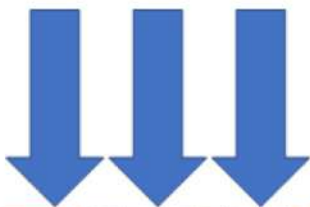

Hi all,

I'm hoping that this will be my last updated for the day (cross all your fingers for me!)

In an effort to better protect Confed Park the following steps have been coordinated with the City and PSPC:

- * The City will narrow, using barrels, the three pedestrian accesses along Laurier and Elgin down to 2M to dissuade vehicle access into the park at those locations
- * PSPC, at around midnight tonight, will place 3 concrete jersey barriers at the east end of the park, at the west-end of the cleared area (image below)
 - * Hopefully this will dissuade users from continuing to drive their vehicles in the park.

Cheers
Ian
